

The COLLEGIATE REVULSION

VOL. 8 NO. 69

SHAPIROVILLE, U.S.A. APRIL 1968

LATEST ADDITION TO NEW CAMPUS

At a crowded and solemn ceremony held at the new campus site, Mrs. HAB Shapiro laid the bowl cover for the newest building on campus, our co-ed outhouse.

Standing inside the doorway of the impressive pine structure, Mrs. Shapiro seemed quite pleased with this latest piece of architectural beauty.

Then the big moment, and our proud President laid the shocking pink bowl cover in the proper position on the seat. A tremendous cheer went up and everyone yelled "Speech".

Mrs. Shapiro, shy as she is, could only say Ugh!

To you, Mrs. Shapiro, good luck and keep up the good work.

MRS. HAB SHAPIRO TO BECOME NEW HEAD OF THE WORLD BANK

APRIL 1968...Mrs. H.A. B. Shapiro, President of New Hampshire College has handed in her resignation to the Board of Directors of Palace Fruit to accept the position as head of the World Bank.

Mrs. Shapiro was chosen for this post because of her vast knowledge of the dollar and the ability to milk the unwary students of the college of more and more of their money.

The bank, operating on "strictly business" principles should benefit from Mrs. Shapiro's experience as former N.H.C. President. While serving as president, she was responsible for the building of a multi-million dollar campus and the institution of a tremendous scholarship aid program for the "average" student.

It is rumored that when Mrs. Shapiro takes her new position she will change the name of the World Bank which was formerly know as The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development to the Shapiro Redevelopment Foundation of the World.

To you, Mrs. Shapiro, we wish you all the luck in your new venture.

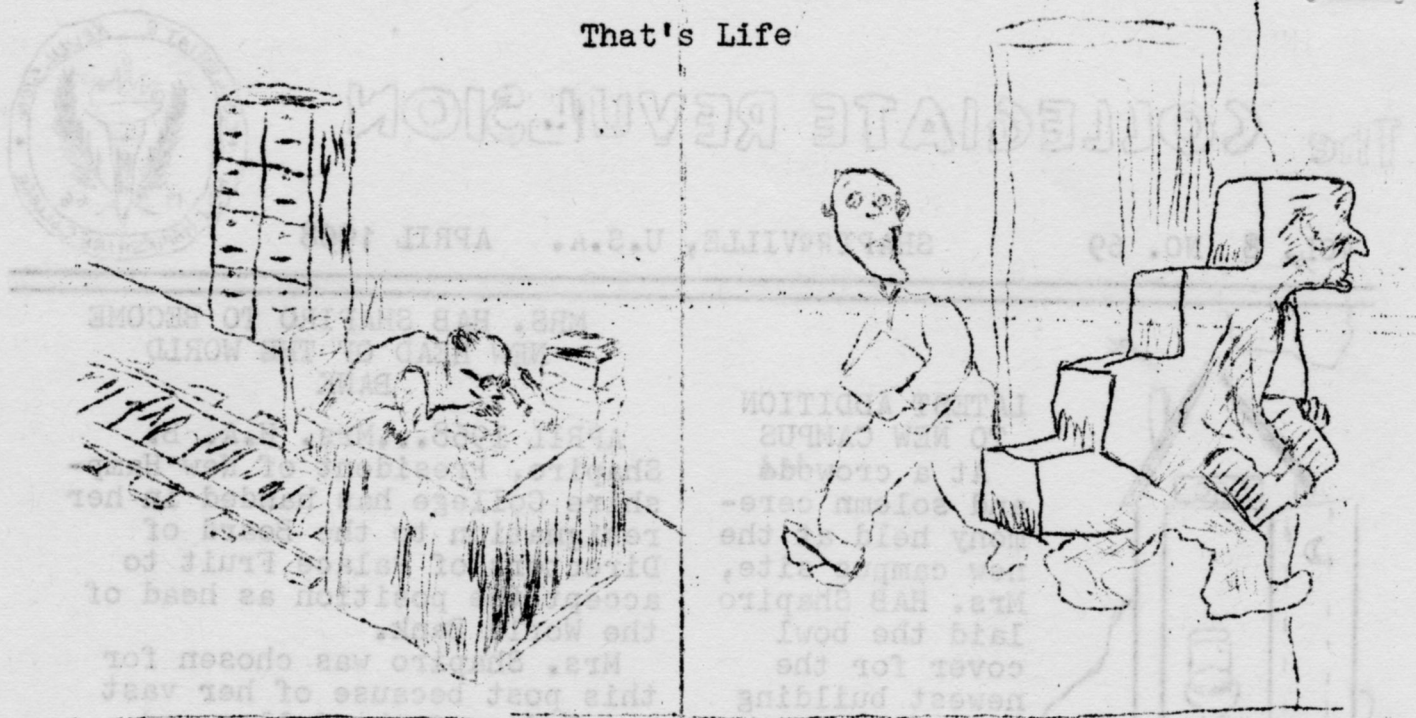

This is our gag issue. Our motto is "Malice toward all."

This being the month of April and time for the Oscars in the motion picture industry, it would only see fair that N.H.C. should have its own Oscars honoring its teachers.

A special meeting was held at the Palace Fruit the other day and a few names were brought up for the nomination. Then the voting took place at Cheddies Donut Shop, and we, the staff of the Collegiate Revulsion, are very happy to relay the results to our faithful readers.

These are the results which represents different catageries:

Best picture of the year: HOW TO MAKE A MILLION WITHOUT REALLY TRYING. This picture was made possible only through the efforts of the administration of N.H.C.

Best performance by an actress: Mrs. Helen Donaldson for her role in the heart-warming movie GUESS WHAT'S HAPPENED TO SOCIETY.

Best performance by an actor: A. Roland Roberge for his wonderful role in the movie THE PROCRASTINATOR.

Best performanche by an actor in a supporting role: The honor goes to Robert Coburn who did try to get a lot of support in the movie HOW TO BECOME A BIG SHOT.

Best performance by an actress in a supporting role: The award has to go to Mrs. Gosselin for the wonderful job that she did in the movie THE OPERATION.

Special mention should also be given to a few who were nominated but did not win.

Mr. Guy Bauduy for the movie THE YOUNG REVOLUTIONIEST, Mr. Mark Zimmerman and Mrs. Mary Opie for roles they played in BONNIE AND CLYDE, and Mr. J. C. Martell for the true to life role he played in the movie THE OLD MAN AND THE SEA.

EDWARD SHAPIRO ADMINISTRATIVE FAILURE OF THE YEAR

At a recent meeting of the Palace Fruit Board of Directors, Mr. E. Shapiro was honored with the Board's annual Administrative Failure of the Year Award. The coveted title is given each year to a member of the administration who has shown consistent lack of significant contributions to the college over the past year.

When the balloting began, it was apparent from my position on the fruit counter, that those Palace fruitmen really know what they were doing. When the tallying was finished Mr. Shapiro won unanimously.

Joe Banana, Chairman of the Board, stated the general consensus this way; "We were looking for someone in the administration who was a real dreamer, and in the opinion of most of us here, it was agreed upon that the top banana for this year's award should go to Mr. Shapiro.

Here is just a partial list of Mr. Shapiro's failures:

failure to (1) deliver a new campus (2) receive regional accreditation (3) reduce book prices, (4) keep outstanding instructors at the college.

We congratulate you Mr. Shapiro, on your greatest of blunders, and wish you good luck and keep up the good work.

WORST-SELLERS LIST

Have you read any good books lately? For instance "Rumble in the Bushes" by Izzy Honer, or "Don't Fence Me In" by Bob Wire, or "Huckleberry Finn" by Ho Chi Minh.

You haven't?-- what a shame! Here are some of the latest privately published books.

The zooming worst sellers at this moment are: "How to Succeed on Wall Street" by Roland Roberge, "How to Play Around the World" by Roland Gibson, "After the Fall" by Charles DeGaulle, and the Presidential Wit" by Eartha Kitt.

Just now, the non-publishing syndicate is eyeing with a special interest "The Magical Growth of the Carrot" by Arthur Barrett, "But Only God Can Make a Tree" by Guy Bauduy, and "Richard the Thoid" by Sigmund Freud,

In connection with the the Worst-Seller List, we present the No-Hit Parade. The most unpromising of the new songs are "The New Campus and The Non-Profit Blues" both by the Shapiros and "The 3 Million Dollar Question" by The Who's Got It. One that is showing a little progress is Daydream Believer" by Ed. Shapiro.

Enough of that, let's hang it all out. If you can think of any great masterpieces that I have skipped, drop us a line, in care of the CR.

CAMPUS WHISPERS

V.D. is running rampant at CAC Roberge-Coburn love affair is about to break up.

Guy Bauduy says he is totally against pre-marital sex.

Co-habitational living will soon be introduced at NHC dorms.

Shapiros are getting a cut on students parking fines.

Federal Government is asking the Shapiros to aid in the stock piling of its gold reserves.

Next year's basketball team will be an all midget squad.

George Teloian admits he is entirely wrong for once.

Big Lou sold his history notes to a BU prof.

Unseasonably warm weather has sent CAC students into a tizzy. They are letting it all hang out, so-to-speak.

Here are a few samples of the unusually weird and sensual activity going on:

Two male students were observed caressing in front of the library.

A co-ed and friend, who were in a stiff-vertical position, were nearly separated by falling lights in the corner of room 24 the other day.

A supposed big studd on campus was caught frantically inserting coins in THAT machine in the girls lav..

The other day a friend of mine was shocked to find a co-ed with her pants down while standing over the pearly white urinal in the men's room.

When I saw a CAC man and a co-ed friend in a most unusual position on a Honda, I was immediately reminded of the saying "You meet the nicest people on a Honda."

A bosomy co-ed, carrying a sign reading "Boston or BUST," was seen on Rt. 93 the other day.

A co-ed was approached and asked what was the last thing she thought about before going to bed. Her answer.....sex!

GIRL WATCHERS CLUB FORMED

A new chapter of the Girl Watchers club has been formed at the CAC recently. Its objectives are to eye all the female students of the college and surrounding areas and come up with a beauty or parts of this girl combined with parts of other girls to make an ideal girl.

The members are broken down into small groups and assigned an area to watch and at the end of the day report back with information and pictures (if possible) on their findings and all the material is compiled and a dream girl is its end product.

If you are interested in joining this club contact any member of the club.

On April 1, the first annual pageant was held at the Candlelite Ballroom. This year nine handsome and princely men competed for the title of Mr. New Hampshire College.

This proved to be the most interesting event of the school year.

The typical scenes backstage ranged from complete silence to little nervous and faint laughers. Tension and excitement grew for the men as their first competition began.

The program began with an appearance by the men dressed in the latest fashions which included suits with turtle neck pullovers, Guru jackets, kilts, full length lounge and swim suits, and with finishing touches such as beaded necklaces, earrings and purses. After a walk down the runway, the men were asked one question.

Following the walk down the runway and question period the moment everyone was waiting for ... the bathing suit competition. These men looked exquisite in their bright and colorful suits. An applause rang out as the first contender walk out on stage and the excitement and gaiety remained throughout this grand piece of showmanship.

After the bathing-suit competition the men presented their talent, and let me say, they had talent. Weight lifting, modeling, pantomimes, singing and playing the tool were just some of the fine entertainment of the night.

Then the moment came, the judges handed there decision to the M.C., Mr. Studd, silence grew over the crowd the lights dimmed low, the music got softer and the winner was about to be chosen... "This year's first Mr. New Hampshire College is.....A.P." the crowd cheered and yelled and just about went into absurdity. The crown was placed upon his head and he made his way down the ramp as Mr. New Hampshire College 68.
