New Hampshire College Campus

Dream, or Reality -- Which?

Larry Lemay and Gary Levesque

We had considered many topics which would have been appropriate for a Thanksgiving issue. However, we felt that no topic was nearer or dearer the hearts of CAC students than the subject of a new campus.

Therefore, we would like to dedicate this issue of the Collegiate Revolution to the New Hampshire College administration, whom we have so much to be thankful for; especially concerning its visionary and farsighted new campus program.

Except for a chuckle or two, you may wonder what we meant by the above statement. For a starter we can of course be thankful for the new campus which we all enjoy so much. Just try to visualize for a moment one of our happy students standing in the middle of a wooded area with nothing but fresh air to keep him company. Here it is, fellow students of NHC, our glorious new campus. Now all you have to do is close your eyes and, by using your imagination, you can take a trip into never-never land and envision a new school with all the facilities that most college students would be proud of.

Actually, the buildings you "see" are the product of years, and years, and years of patient research and development; and last, but surely not the least, repeated promises of a new campus to incoming freshmen and transfer students. Those poor, innocent lambs were duped into believing that a new campus was just around the corner.

From personal experience, we can vouch that the typical line went something like this: construction will begin later in the year and we expect to have the new campus ready for occupancy at the start of the next school year. Does this sound familiar?

But when, we ask, is "the next school year?" Perhaps we have misunderstood and what we really heard was "the next century."

Well!!! some of you might be saying. This is indeed a direct attack on the administration! Yes, it is. We are very upset and a growing number of students are quite concerned. We will remain so until we receive satisfactory news from the administration that our beliefs are otherwise unfounded. We are getting tired of promises and dreams! We further believe that by using the power of the press we may hasten the day when our new campus will be a reality.

New Hampshire College Day Set For Boston Garden

November 28 has been set as New Hampshire College Day at Boston Garden it was announced by Lou D'Allesandro, director of athletics and basketball coach at New Hampshire College of Accounting and Commerce. On that day, a Tuesday, New Hampshire College's championship basketball team will take on Emerson College of Boston as a preliminary to a Boston Celtics-Detroit Pistons game. SENATE SPEAKS OUT

In the first few hectic weeks of school, the Student Senate set its goals for the coming year. A major aim of the Senate is to increase the governing administrative role of the Student Senate within the College.

One major advance in this direction is the recent election of Lawrence R. Kelley and Paul E. Dolbec to the Student Personnel Services Department.

Another step toward this aim is the proposal of the Senate to have a non-voting member of the Senate on the College Council. The purpose of this committee is to utilize and coordinate the abilities and talents of the faculty and administration of the College in both long and short term planning. As yet, it is only in the initial stages of proposal.

The Student Personnel Services Department is involved directly in all non-academic phases of the College operations. With two senators now active voting members of this strong and influential body, the Student Senate can truly represent the Student Body in the responsible manner in which it was designed to function.

The Senate believes that this effort on behalf of the Administration demonstrates their confidence, interest and willingness to cooperate with the Student Senate and the Student Body of a College which is continually growing in size and importance.

Along with the new role of a governing Senate, we are deeply concerned with the expanding role of the clubs, classes, and organizations sponsoring activities within the College. Therefore, the Senate acts as a regulatory body over these groups and has direct authority over all College clubs and organizations and will exercise this authority whenever deemed necessary. This is not a threat, but a fact! Failure to comply with Student Senate rules and regulations will result in suspension of an organization's constitution.

The apathy of the student body in the past has been deplorable. This was the result of the inefficiency of the officers of classes, clubs, and organiza-

From the Editor

There comes a time when most of us have to be reminded of our duties and responsibilities; whether they are to our family, friends, our employers, or our classmates. Today I am addressing myself to our class officers and heads of organizations whose responsibility it is to effectively consult, advise, and represent the students at New Hampshire College.

We shall concern ourselves with the term consultation, for without it, the other areas of responsibility (advising & representing) cannot be properly set into motion. With reference to consultation, one would assume cognizance of the definition of this term by our class officials. This being taken for granted, we shall move on to a more inquiring question into the degree of consultation necessary to insure the successful implementation of the student body's wishes.

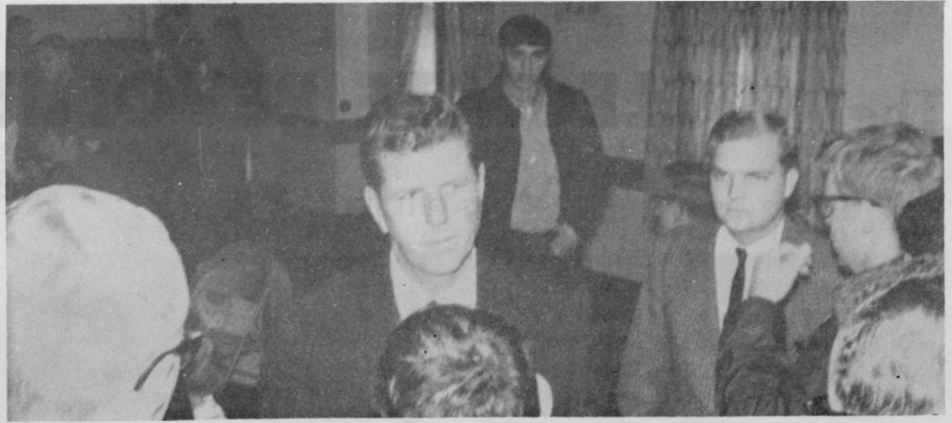

For the sake of discussion I will define in my own terms what consultation means relative to CAC students. Consultation means an assembly of a class for the express purpose of discussing various topics relating to and directly affecting the class. Some officials, however, sometimes refuse or fail to note the extent of the word consultation and insist on gathering about them a small group of cronies, who together, proceed to formulate plans and make important decisions with the intent of notifying the remainder of the class in a future meeting. This is not consistent with my understanding of the term consultation.

It is especially worth noting that most of the officials I am addressing myself to had run on a platform based upon equal representation for all the members of the class.

At any rate, this kind of operation has been detected and it has to stop. It must be understood that all the members of a class have to be consulted so that ideas can be freely exchanged, thereby eliminating the biased views of some who seek greater recognition and prominence for their own "inside" group or organization.

? T.V.—PROPAGANDA ?

The Soviet Union recognizes T.V. as a prime media of propaganda, the Soviet leadership encourages the purchase of T.V. sets and makes it easy in some instances by adopting a free enterprise tactic of installment payments. It is rumored however, that if you fall behind on your payments, they don't repossess the T.V. set, they repossess you.

THE FUTURE OF AMERICA

by Paul Bilicki

Last Wednesday NHC had the honor of having the only announced candidate for President, William W. Evans Jr. speak as a guest of the Young Republicans Club.

As a private citizen Mr. Evans has every right to voice his opinion and to run for political office. Yet he lacks the qualifications and experience to even consider himself as a candidate for America's highest office. One of his few claims to political fame is holding office on the local level. Is this enough to qualify him as an authority on foreign affairs? Contrary to his belief America cannot be a nation of isolation. This was proven after World War I. The affairs of other nations all over the world are our business, if not from the freedom viewpoint but from the viewpoint of the business and economic interests that America has in these countries which are vital to the economy and defense of our nation.

Mr. Evans also criticized the political views of Nixon, Goldwater, Johnson, Romney, and Reagan, yet his only other political contribution was as local chairman for the Nixon organization in 1960 and for Goldwater in 1964. If my memory serves me correctly both men defended our stand in Vietnam. As a matter of fact, Goldwater's stand was much stronger than Mr. Johnson's. It seems that Mr. Evans' views are as flexible as the weather in Manchester.

In summary I feel that Mr. Evans is in no position to even think he could lead this nation in this crucial period of history. He could well take a lesson from Greyhound and leave the running of America to Professionals.

Picket and Be Popular

Letter to the Editor

Once upon a time in the month of November we were minding our own business. But then turning up Hanover Street we saw all these students strolling back and forth, back and forth. The unintelligent college students that we are — we joined the group. Looking around we noticed that all students were carrying signs. So we started reading them. In bold print the signs all read — WE WANT A NEW CAMPUS. — We agreed so we decided to stay.

While walking, we heard some choice pieces of conversation that we thought you might like to hear, just in case you missed them.

—I can't carry my sign, it's too heavy!—

—Do you think I can get into the Candlelight? I'm hungry and nobody will take my sign.—

—Did you get your poster paper at Llewellyn's. I did.—

(This, of course, was said by a faithful Llewellyn employee.)

—Maybe I'll get asked to the Christmas dance.—

—Gee, this is great exercise.— (And wouldn't you know it, the skinniest person in the crowd said this.)

—My feet hurt.— (The girl who said this definitely wore a size twelve shoe.)

—I'm not very photogenic,— said a girl to a reporter, but she took out her compact and comb anyway.

Well, Hanover Street is now quiet. The picketers have gone home—tired but happy— and maybe just a little bit successful in getting their point across.

CONSUMER AND BUSINESS TRENDS

by John H. Wood

Rise in the cost of living, the 1967 price index has reached 116.9 meaning goods costing $10 in 1957-59 now cost $11.69 and it is estimated that by the end of the year it will rise another 3%. An additional 4% increase is anticipated next year.

Increased costs in postal rates will be in effect shortly, first-class mail will go from 5¢ to 6¢ . . . air mail from 8¢ to 10¢ . . . postcards from 4¢ to 5¢.

Telephone reductions ??? beginning this month station to station and person to person calls will be cheaper and an extension of days and hours economy charges will also be in effect.

Car prices will be on the rise now that labor disputes are over. It may be cheaper to buy a new car now . . . yet trade-ins and discounts will probably be valued higher than they are now.

Imported goods on the market, more British goods will be prevalent in store this fall from soaps to men's and women's wear. French and Israeli imports will also be available.

Student loans can be obtained from your home state without very much trouble, the Federal Government has allocated funds for education and the government will pay the interest on the loan while you are in school as long as the family income is under 15,000 a year. Scholarships are also available through your home state or city, educational foundations.

Antismoking campaigns will be continued, as a matter of fact, they will be increased, stressing the dangers of smoking and the effect it has on the image that the parents play upon their children. The tobacco companies will be affected by these campaigns, knowing this some companies are diversifying their outputs in order to maintain their present levels of profit.

New Campus for N.H.C.???? The planning of a new campus for New Hampshire College has been in the embryonic state for the past several years. Because of "tight" money in past fiscal periods construction of the new campus will begin within the next several years.

A Student Speaks Out

by Tony Lambert

This year the graduating class will number close to 250 full-time day students. A number larger than any previous graduating class.

Why is this so important? Who cares how many are going to graduate in June? We all should! Why? This year, although there is a larger graduating class, little has been done to increase the job opportunities for our graduating seniors. Very few, if any new companies have been added to last year's list. In fact, a few have been dropped.

It is amazing, indeed, that the administration has done nothing to entice new company recruiters to the campus. Letters were sent to potential companies this summer. If a negative reply came in, nothing was done and if there was no reply at all, there was no follow up. Is this the treatment we, the students of New Hampshire College, deserve. With all the talk about higher academic standards, with a higher caliber of professors on campus, with a higher tuition being paid this year and with talk of an increase next year, do we, indeed, rate this treatment?

Is it possible that the trouble lies in the position of Director of Placement? Has this title been "dumped" on an individual just to indicate that someone has it? This year Dean William Beane seems to be the recipient of the honor. Let me elaborate on Dean Beane's other duties on campus:

1. Chairman of the Judicial Council
2. Director of Student Activities
3. Supervisor of Orientation
4. Supervisor of Food Services
5. Director of Placement for 4-year graduates
6. Member of Student Personnel Services
7. Assistant Professor of English
8. Coach of Baseball
9. Coach of Soccer
10. Advisor to Student Senate

This list, while very extensive, does show the degree of responsibility that the administration has given Mr. Beane. He has accepted these responsibilities willingly and has been very instrumental in upgrading the name of N.H.C.

Facts being facts, an individual in this situation could not possibly devote very much of his time to any one or two of these activities. Placement, being one of the newer of these responsibilities, has been short-changed.

I sincerely believe, as do some members of the administration, the faculty,

Executive Club News

Thomas E. Martin, Pres.
Curtis Walton, V.P.

We are pleased to announce that the first Executive Club Dinner meeting held on October 23 was very successful. As our guest speaker we had Mr. Ronald Coffee of N. H. Life and Accident Insurance Company of Concord. Mr. Coffee has been with the personnel department of this company for seven years and therefore was well aware of the many implications and problems which we as job-seeking students may face.

The Executive Club was also happy to have as guests Mr. Allen Berzofski, Public Relations Director of the College, Mr. Robert Coburn, faculty advisor to the club, and personal guests of the members.

The next meeting to be held November 27, at the Puritan Dining room will begin at 6:30 P.M. We will present as our guest lecturer Mr. Milton Machinist. The subject of his lecture will be "If you're out how can you be in". It will generally cover the importance of participating in community activities for a successful businessman. We have also asked Mr. Machinist to familiarize us with the N.H. Business Development Corporation which is similar to the Small Business Administration in its function.

Members of the club are invited to bring a guest so if you are not in the club and would like to attend find a member and be his or her guest.

Hillel Formed at N.H.C.

by Allen Cohen

An Hillel organization has been formed on campus to promote the interests and beliefs of the Jewish students in the school.

Elected to office for this year are Alan Barnett-President, Robert Zazma-Vice-President, Allen Cohen-Secretary, and Robert Aronson-Treasurer. An advisory committee consisting of Miss Shapiro, Mr. Shapiro, and Mr. Rogers lends support to the organization in advising, directing, and consulting on various problems that may arise.

Programs consisting of talks by rabbis, movies on Judaism, and other activities have been planned to make Hillel a functioning and participating organization on campus.

and the student body, that we do need a full-time placement director for both 2-year and 4-year graduates.

WHY DON'T WE?

Improvement Survey

by Henry Pristawa

A survey was recently conducted to determine the changes that students desired at the college. The following were the major avenues of concern:

IMAGE BUILDER

Changing the sign above the school from New Hampshire School of Accounting and Commerce to New Hampshire College of Accounting and Commerce

EQUIPMENT

Humidity control rectifier to control humidity in rooms 1-2-3 during class periods.

BOOKS

Reduction in price to reflect large quantity discounts to be passed on to students, and in order to remain competitive with local merchants.

DRINKS in STUDENT LOUNGE

Reduction of the price of soda to 10¢ instead of 15¢ to reflect gains through automation.

CO-ED

Improvement in the 4 to 1 ratio that presently exists to facilitate a more balanced student body.

PERSONNEL

Part-time systems analyst to set up traffic flow system near rooms 23 & 24.

PARKING LOT

There should be a new parking garage to provide parking facilities for instructors, administrators, and students.

CAMPUS and DORMS

To improve living conditions, coordination of activities and student morale.

VALETE

by Kenneth dh Gloade

Seasons' sheltering sleeve surrounds them. Each speaks an elderly tongue, "Why, when- I was your age. . . ." The park bench replies not. Little animals scurry to relish the meager gifts brought. Youth; how cruel can you be to them that now rest? They once eagerly played with life to their best. "But, the new is fashionable and that's the thing to do. Sit you worthless segments and speak not like a fool about beauty, work, righteousness and the like; for youth and all its glories are within my sight." Warmth comes to the old, "Why, when I was your age. . . ." Youth-- run and play your game on the modern stage. For only the park listens to a fool like me, For, "When I was your age, as you see- I did more or less the same."

Dear Zelda

READERS;

This column has been initiated to help any and all in our fair university who may seek advice or who want to air any gripes or complaints on any subject including those affairs of the heart. All letters should be left at the box in the Student Senate Office. I will try my best to answer these in the following addition of the Collegiate Revolution.

Z

Dear Zelda:

I am writing this letter in search of advice. I am a freshman girl and this is my first time away from home.

Last week I attended my first college dance. While there I met an upperclassman who invited me to a party which I promptly accepted. To make a long story short. I had a couple of drinks there and all I remember is running out after being chased around by three guys who tried to force their attentions on me. My problem is what should a new freshman do?

Wondering Frosh;

Dear Wandering Frosh:

My advice to you is either transfer or stay at the party and enjoy it.

Z

Dear Zelda:

I am a Senior with a problem. I have a girl up here and we see a lot of each other during the week. The problem is she goes home every weekend, leaving me high and dry. Do you have any suggestions? Sign, me E.O. so I won't get caught.

Dear E.O.

The best solution to your problem is to get yourself a girl on the side whose boyfriend goes home every weekend, li'e me.

Affectionately,

Z

Dear Zelda:

My problem is with one of the courses I am required to take. It seems to me that although I listen I can not seem to understand his lectures. All I get are his jokes. What should I do?

Worried

Dear Worried:

If this is the teacher I think it is my only advice to you is his advice. Laugh hard, study hard and pray you're not an underclassman.

Larry Lee

One of the most highly motivated individuals in the Sophomore class is Lawrence L. Lee. This year's Sophomore president comes to us from Durham, N.H., where he was graduated from Oyster River High School, Class of 1966.

Besides being class president, Larry is the parliamentarian for the Student Senate. This year Larry was in charge of the Orientation Committee and is presently chairman of the Senate Constitution Committee.

Larry is presently enrolled in the Business Management program at the College. Keep up the good work Larry.

IMPRESSIONS FROM THE NHCAC LIBRARY

The Art Look:

The large abstract painting of the "Roman Wall" and the untitled "OP Art" painting, loaned by Dr. Roland Gibson, set a stimulating backdrop for the library. Two additional small abstracts were added last week. These are rewarding "fringe benefits" of library usage. To help the student body assimilate the exposure to art, a handsome Encyclopedia of World Art is being added to the reference section.

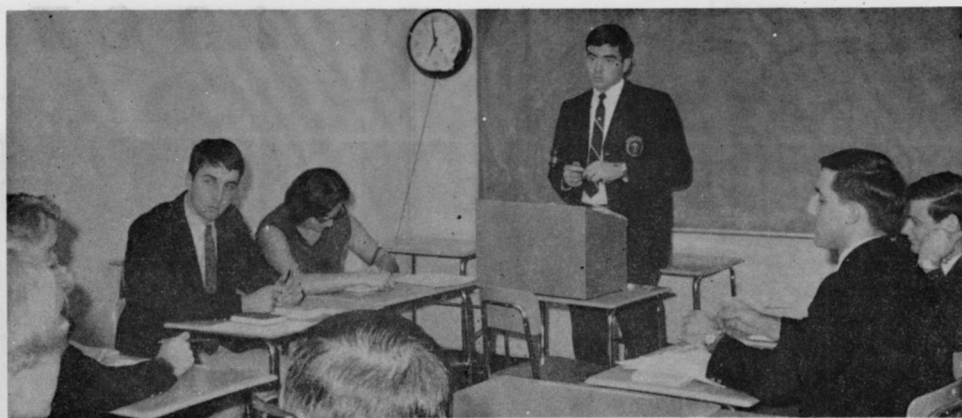

The New Books Look:

Several thousand new books will be added to the library this year, according to Mrs. Jordan, Librarian. The new books list on the bulletin board reflects the ones catalogued each week.

The Traffic Look:

In the library, the doors are constantly in use. During October, a spot-check of student usage (a total of a count once each period, once during evenings, and once on Saturdays) yielded almost 8000. Actual usage probably triples that number. This didn't tally the chess tournament going on in the cellar!

Mrs. Jordan says there is still room for more students — especially during late afternoons, evenings, and specifically, on Saturdays from 9 AM to 1 PM.

Senate in Action

SENATE

tions within the College who profess to be responsible, dedicated individuals who in actuality are reaping the glory and recognition gained from these positions but failing to fulfill their duties. When the novelty has passed and the time and work is of the essence officer interest subsides.

We realize there are those officers who are responsible and dedicated people who perform noteworthy jobs which are a credit to themselves and the college. These are the kind of people who get things done, do more than is asked of them, take the initiative and make the College, a College of which they can be proud.

However, these are still in the minority. For the above reasons there will be a meeting in the very near future of all officers of the classes, clubs and organizations. This will be a mandatory meeting. The time and place will be announced in a later issue of the Pen.

Finally, we demand that all Student Senate Requests previously sent to the various college groups be complied with immediately. Failure to do so will result in revocation of the organization's constitution.

NHC Gains Admission to NAIA

By Joe Bukowski

The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics has announced that it has accepted New Hampshire College into its program. This acceptance is a great step forward for our ever expanding college.

By gaining recognition by the NAIA, all sport teams at NHC (with the exception of the ski team, due to the fact that the NAIA program does not encompass skiing) will be eligible to win national championships. In addition individual performers will be able to establish personal records which will be recognized as such by the NAIA. Finally, all players will be eligible to gain All-American honors, for consistently big performances.

Hubby: I'll bet if you were real sweet to the landlord, he'd stop bugging us for the rent.

teams, will begin at 6:00 p.m.

Tickets for the game, a regular 3.00 garden seat that will be good for both games, will go on sale next week at the New Hampshire College athletic office, on the second floor of 83 Hanover Street. Chartered bus service from the college will also be available at $2.00 for the round trip.

New Hampshire College is undefeated against Emerson during the last 3 years with a 6-0 record and also in the past 3 years was conference titleholder in the Greater Boston Small College Conference. New Hampshire College is no longer in the Boston Conference, having moved up to the New England Intercollegiate Basketball Association.

Coach Lou D'Allesandro, looking forward to the toughest season in his four years at New Hampshire College, points to the new basketball scholarship program as indicative that basketball has become big time at New Hampshire College, and is anxious for Garden fans to take a look at his fine team. He is also anxious for local support for the team, since its recent NAIA membership will entitle the team to regional and national playoffs for the first time.

BASKETBALL

By Gary Levesque

In a recent interview with coach Lou D'Allesandro, I had the opportunity to get some candid opinions on this year's basketball team.

As you may know, New Hampshire College is now a member of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics and will be facing much stiffer competition this year as a result. As a member of the NAIA the Penmen may get a chance to play in the District 3 playoffs in the nationals at Kansas City.

I asked Coach D'Allesandro if there were going to be any particular problems to overcome this year. He said that "the biggest problem will be in putting in an offense that will take advantage of returning players and successfully integrating the new recruits into the system."

When asked how tough this year's schedule will be Coach D'Allesandro said "every game is a big one, but you can't win them all unless you win the first one." By the way, that first big one is an away game against Loyola College on December 1.

In summing up Coach D'Allesandro asked that our students be at the games to support the Penmen. He also stated the possibility that away games will be broadcast on radio.
