You can work under it. You can be under it. You can exert it. You can place it on others. You can put it on yourself. You can relieve it. It is something everyone experiences. It can be felt studying for a test. It can make or break a good game. It can force you into awkward situations. It is something everyone must deal with, even if they don't want to. IT IS PRESSURE.

Remember your first day on campus? You were worried about whether you would like your roommate and if you'd make friends. You wanted so much to make your parents proud of you by doing your best in your classes. And you wanted to prove to yourself and the coach that you could fill that spot on the team better than anyone else. So right away you were under pressure — from yourself, your family and your new environment.

Homework—it's everyone's favorite part about college, right? Of course it is. Homework can be hell on earth if it's allowed to pile up, but of course we at NHC don't let that happen to us. The trick, obviously, is to get it done early—it comes out better and leaves more time to relax. However, human nature being what it is, homework is usually left until the last minute and . . . enter the "all-nighter." Who hasn't sworn, after pulling one, never to let it happen again? But it usually does, doesn't it . . . but such is life. Homework—it's got to be everyone's favorite part of college. Just look at how much fun these NHC students are having.

This page: Keeping up with the paper work.

Opposite page: (top) keep up with the research paper. (bottom) Hours of reading that you could never keep up with.

The competitive edge. Pressure to perform. Athletes spend countless hours practicing and playing. These athletes put everything they have into performing. Sports is more than pressure plays, though, it's a chance for everyone to get involved in their school.

RELATIONSHIPS AT N.H.C.

You can place it on others. Or they can put it on you. Especially when you're under pressure from everything else.

But your friends are also the ones who made your experience here at NHC so memorable. All the good times you shared, all the laughs — they were worth the small pains and pressure.

Why? These are the people you care most about, whose opinion you value, who you would be lost without. Just trying to maintain the relationship can put pressure

What does pressure feel like at N.H.C.? Well, to many of us it's last minute studying for the next day's exam, or trying to meet those endless deadlines. We find ourselves sometimes underpressure to the extent that our minds go blank and . . . uh, well, class dismissed!

INTRAMURALS

Intramurals were a chance to get out and have some fun and relax. They were a place to go with friends, and compete. A place for the local all stars.

The local all stars. NHC's best out for a relaxing afternoon under the sun with a few friends. We all spent many a weekend like this.

STUDENT LIFE

THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The Student Government Association is charged with the responsibility of looking after the interests of all students and with the administration of both the student activities fund and all clubs and organizations.

Comprised of an executive board and student representatives from each class, all SGA members are given a voice in college affairs. Representatives are encouraged to express their opinions through various SGA subcommittees, Governance committees, college advisory committees, and at the weekly meetings.

The Student Government is especially well-known for taking the college administration to task. This year, major controversies included the need for a student union and problems with Public Safety.

All students are welcome to attend Student Government meetings and make known their views. As the SGA motto goes, "STUDENTS FIRST."
