December 1, 1982

Welcome to our twentieth New England Circle and the start of our tenth Circle year . . .

As it has been for a decade, our purpose is to assemble for the discussion of social, political, literary, and educational topics; our goal is to exchange ideas and opinions that lead to constructive change in our lives, our nation, and our world.

Jane Fonda, this evening's discussion leader, is the quintessential Twentieth Century woman, well qualified to address either social, political, literary or educational topics, or all four.

Her commitment to social justice and the human condition spans many years and a range of issues. Her political credentials have been tested in the most intense campaign crucibles. Her literary talents have combined with her genius as an actress to win her two Academy Awards, and, in her latest configuration as an educator, she is the author of a best selling book that's teaching Americans how to exercise and keep fit.

Certainly most Americans, and many people the world around, are conscious of Jane Fonda's presence on this planet. Often disagreed with, she has seldom, if ever, been ignored.

But the price of notoriety is high; it obscures reality and the true personalities of the notorious. In her private life — as much as is granted her — Jane Fonda is the mother of a daughter, Vanessa, a son, Troy, and lives in a relatively unpretentious home in Santa Monica, California, with her husband, Tom Hayden.

She is, first, last, and always, an actress, generally considered one of the finest in the nation. And regardless of her concern for solar energy, her commitment to peace, her defense of human rights, and her success as an author, it is the excellence of her acting that sustains her and gives her life its central meaning and focus.

For that, all of us who have seen her performances are grateful, and honored to welcome her to this evening's Circle.

Your Hosts . . .

. . . Jack, Bill, Bob, Walter, Roy and Jerry Dunfey
