DEAR ABBY I am an executive. I employ a vast number of people, and receive a staggering number of telephone calls daily, but I would never allow my secretary to ask, "May I tell him who is calling?"

When I make a phone call personally and receive such treatment, I feel insulted.

Enclosed is a poem I clipped some years ago from the Wall Street Journal. It reflects my sentiments perfectly:

When calling Mr. Jones

I find it most appalling

To have his secretary ask,

"May I tell him who is calling?"

One of these days

When I find it all too taxing,

"I'll come right back to her and say,

"May I ask you, WHO IS ASKING?"

OFFENDED IN HOUSTON

DEAR OFFENDED

A man with such ability
And obvious humility
Deserves some loud hosannas
(If he doesn't go bananas.)

Dear Mr. Hannigan:

On behalf of the Manchester Chapter of the Red Cross,
I want to express our appreciation to New Hampshire College and the students for sponsoring the blood drawing held yesterday .

The drawing produced a total of 86 units of blood. Five prospective donors were deferred for health reasons. There were 35 first time donors.

Of the total 86 units, 46 were donated by New Hampshire
College people, 11 by "walk ins".

We hope that you will sponsore arother drawing next fall.
Thanks again.
