PLAYS A SUCCESS

Assistant Professor Charles Wilbert reports that the Drama Club plays produced last week attracted capacity audiences, with theatergoers turned away on opening night at the Little Theater. He estimated that over 200 people attended the two dramatic presentations.

For those of you who were unable to attend earlier, the plays will be presented one more time. On Tuesday, March 6, the NHC Drama Club will perform for the benefit of the students and personnel at the New Hampshire State Industrial School. The plays, under the direction of Drama Club Advisor Wilbert, will go on at 8:30 p.m., Industrial school's gym-auditorium.

ESP TONIGHT

Pat Harman will be at NHC tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the Student Center. She will present a unique program titled "ESP and Higher Mind Development." A parapsychologist, she has devoted all of her free time during the last 15 years to the study of Parapsychology. She has been a guest on major radio and television shows originating in Boston, Worcester, New York and Washington, DC; her most recent appearance was on the Paul Benzaquin show during February. She is currently involved in the special study of Cosmic Development and plans to publish her findings after further research.

So, if you want such questions as "How do you recognize a true psychic," or "What really happens at a seance" answered, plan to be at NHC tonight at 8:00 p.m. Remember this fascinating program will be held in the Student Center.

PAGEANT PRACTICE

Practice for Miss New Hampshire College Pageant contestants will be held Tuesday night, March 6, rather than Monday, March 5.

NEW PERSONNEL

Her experience has been as Licensed Practical Nurse (L.P.N.) in local hospitals and as Nurse Receptionist in doctors' offices.

Nancy is presently employed part time. Hopefully she will be with us full time in the fall. She lives in Merrimack, NH with her husband, Charles, a distributor for the Union Leader, and they have one son, Scott. Her hobbies are knitting, swimming, skiing and horseback riding.
